THE YEAR'S MORTALITY IN NEW YORK

(From the ... Times)

The Statistical Bureau of New York City does its work well So perfectly is its books kept that on the last day of the old year the returns for the previous twelve months were issued to the public in various departments of the city statistics The importance of knowing the rate of mortality amongst the population throughout the year cannot be overestimated by our life insurance companies Upon vital statistics of this class the whole business of life insurance is based — The interest to be obtained upon investments is largely within the control and management of the officers of companies The death rate is beyond all control of these officials

Last year we directed attention to the heavy rate of mortality in New York during 1872 And the cause that operated to produce a high death rate in New York then, seemed to have been operating in the various cities of the United States, The death rate for 1872 ran up to 32 in the 1 000 of the population The total death in 1872 were 32 647 We are happy to find that the year just closed shows a great improvement in the health and vitality of the citizens during 1873 The total deaths during 1873 were 29 069 Taking the population of New York City at 1 000,000 in 1873 this will give the death rate exactly 29 per 1,000 of the population living Taking the three past years we find the total deaths in each year as follows

Mortality of New York
1871	1872	1873
[illegible]	32 647	29 069

Taking the increase of the population into account, the death rate for 1873 is not greatly in excess of that for 1871—but yet it is higher than for that year We have reason to be thankful, however that it has fallen so much below the fearfully high rate of 1872 — It is still very much too high The general death rate of all England and Wales is but 22 2 per 1,000 of the population The death rate in Ireland is only 16 a in the 1,000 of the population The mortality of London with its three millions and a half of inhabitants does not exceed 23 in the 1 000 living And here in New York, with all the natural sanitary advantages, which the Island of Manhattan possesses the mortality is 29 in the 1,000 Taking the population of New York at 1 000 000, we have thereby deaths in the 1 000 in excess of the mortality of London and we thus lose 6,000 lives each year that might be preserved to the country, in this one city alone, if we could only reduce our death rate to the average rate in London, or 7 000 if we could reduce our death rate to the average rate of all England

In previous articles upon this subject we had to direct attention to the greater portion of this excessive mortality being amongst infants There does not appear to be much improvement in this respect and there is no use in cloaking the fact, either that this awful infant mortality is amongst the native American population, who are, as a rule surrounded by the most comforts of life and have not as hard a struggle for existence as the "foreign" element in our population Yet the "foreigners" manage to rear their offsprings, and our American parents do not.

Of the 29 069 who died in New York during 1873 no less than 14 112 of them—48 per cent of the whole—were infants under five years of age And of these 14 112 again not less than 8 832 of them died inside of one year old This is the "massacre of the innocents," with a vengeance

We regret to state that this horrible condition of infant life—or death—is almost entirely confined to the families of native born Americans We wish the statistics could startle the American people to see the enormity of this evil Of premature and preternatural births—664 in 1873—they were every one in American families, not a single case of the kind occurred in the families of the foreign population of New York

The foreign born inhabitants of the Metropolitan City stand in the proportion to the native born Americans as 4 to 5 Bearing this in mind, let us now look at the facts set forth in the report of the Board of Health — The proportion of deaths per 100 from the following diseases amongst the infants of Americans and foreign parents is, indeed alarming

	American	Foreign
Whooping Cough	5	5
Croup	3	7
Inanition	43	4
Scarlatina	12	8
Diptheria,	12	8
Diarrhoea	1	[illegible]
Meningitis	8	13
Convulsions	7	[illegible]
Measles,	80	14
Hydrocephalus	91	8
Marasmus	95	4

Here is proof beyond question of the want of all stamina in the infants born of native Americans in New York City The mortality amongst the infants of "foreigners" is a trifling matter compared with the fearful death rate in the families of natives. The result of this mortality would be the speedy depopulation of New York, if it were not for foreign immigration We have the increase to the population of those arriving by steamer and the natural increase from these again, births of healthy infants, who manage not only to arrive safely, but to resist all assaults of infantile diseases after their arrival.

The total number of births in New York during 1873 was 22,667. This gives 6,472 less than the deaths of the year If this should occur in London, Dublin, Edinburgh, or any city in the "old country" the whole population would become alarmed at the consequences. Why should New York have more deaths than births in a year? It is unnatural, entirely nonnatural. The shortest-lived animals on our earth multiply their species Man was commanded to "be ye fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth and subdue it." We have a broad expanse of hundreds of millions of acres to "subdue" on this continent alone Yet our American people are falling off in numbers instead of being "fruitful and multiplying." Of the 22,567 births in New York, during 1873, no less than 8,832 of the "innocents" died during the year, and nearly as many more of those who had been born in a year or two previous. This is how the native population drops off and the children of "foreigners" come to take their places The number of still-born children during 1873 was 2 302, and of premature and preternatural births, as already stated, 664 If these be added to the infant mortality, and they ought to be, the number will be even still more enormous.

The statement—the bare statement—of these facts ought to be sufficiently startling to arouse the thoughtful portion of the community to a careful consideration of the subject and to the speedy application of practical remedies for so dreadful an evil existing in our midst. There is not a pulpit in New York but ought to sound out the loudest warnings against the causes which produce these awful consequences to infant life.

The real root of the evil lies in this: our American women "do not want the trouble of children," They unblushingly proclaim their views and feelings on this point. They do.— As a result they drug themselves to seek to avoid bearing any offspring. And when the children—one or two—do come, in spite of all this course of procedure, they are sickly, puny, dying creatures. If one of these struggles on through infancy and up to manhood, there is no stamina in him or her; and so a deteriorated race comes into existence, and their weakly offspring die off quicker still than their own generation did The evil thus grows from generation to generation The old excellent New England, and noble Knickerbockers, stock is thus dying out amongst us, and being replaced by a newly-imported "foreign element.

Instead of the clergy of the various churches occupying their time in denouncing Darwinism, without ever having read Darwin, we would recommend them very strongly, to read Darwin on "Propagation of Species, and "Natural Selection," and then enter their pulpits and thunder forth their strongest condemnation against the habits and customs of society that produce the results in infant mortality to which we have here called attention

The death rate for the different quarters of the year shows that the "hot season" causes the heaviest mortality There died during July, August and September, 1873 no less than 8 983, while for October, November, and December, the deaths only numbered 6 678 For April May, and June, they were 6 583 and for January, February, and March last, 6,815 The summer quarter of the year thus cut off the largest number of the population The actual diseases causing the deaths were as follows

Consumption	4 149	Inanition,	228
Diarrhoea	1 105	Erysipelas	106
Pneumonia,	2 306	Remittent fever,	1 8
Bronchitis,	1 638	Intermittent fever	86
Diphtheria	1 139	Intemperance	8
Scarlatina	1 30	Cerebro spinal fever	44
Bright's disease	8 8	Small pox	118
Croup,	7	Solar heat	61
Convulsions,	703	Killed by vehicles in the street	117
Hydrocephalus,	678	Killed by falls	150
Meningitis	6	Burns and scalds	102
Premature and preternatural births	6 4	Suffocation	25
Tabes mesenterica	641	Drowning	134
Apoplexy	411	Surgical operations,	83
Senile debility	358	Homicides	67
Typhus and typhoid fever	336	Suicides,	111
Measles	8	Executions Foster and Nixon,	2
Whooping cough	263

Classifying these we have—deaths from zymotic diseases, 7 062 from constitutional 6 319 from local 10 139, from developmental, 1 670 and of violent deaths, 1,100 A very large percentage of these deaths arise, it will be observed from preventable causes By better sanitary arrangements, by greater attention amongst the people themselves to the laws of hygiene many of these diseases could be lessened in their ravages considerably and the death rate from them be greatly reduced

The entire statistical returns, which we have here analyzed, deserve the careful attention of the actuaries of all our life insurance companies, as a pure matter of business, while to society at large they are of vast interest and to the native American population of immense importance

FISH CULTURE.—The subject of Fish Culture has received much prominence in the last few months in consequence of the operations on the part of the United States connected with the introduction of salmon into American waters Mr Livingston Stone was engaged during the summer in securing eggs of the salmon of the Sacramento River on one of its upper tributaries, and succeeded in collecting about 1 800 000, of which about 1 000 000 were safely transferred to Eastern establishments for the purpose of being hatched The State hatching-houses of Maine Connecticut, Vermont, New York Pennsylvania, Michigan and Utah received a certain number, the remainder being provided for in the private hatching establishments of Dr J H Slack at Bloomsbury, New Jersey The heat of the season (October) during which these eggs were carried across the continent was somewhat injurious to the eggs, but of the whole number transmitted about seventy per cent were hatched and proved to be very vigorous Nearly all of these have now been planted in the waters of the Northern and Middle States, especially those of the Penobscot, Merrimac Connecticut Hudson, Delaware Susquehanna, (both in Pennsylvania and New York) and the Potomac, as also in tributaries of Lake Champlain Lake Ontario, Lake Michigan, in the head waters of the Wisconsin River and those of the Muskingum

The work of securing the eggs of the Penobscot salmon has been in charge of Mr Atkins, and has been very successful, about 2 100,000 eggs being secured, which will be distributed about the beginning of February —[Harper's Magazine for March.

JOHN H. LYNDE, PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, FEB. 28 1874.

Republican Caucuses.

The Republican Voters of the City of Bangor are requested to meet in Caucus, at CITY HALL on TUESDAY EVENING, March 5th, 1874, at 7 o'clock P. M., to nominate Candidates for Mayor and for a Judge of Police Court.

Also on FRIDAY EVENING, March 6th, 1874, at 7 o'clock P. M., at the usual places of Ward meetings in the several wards, to nominate Candidates for Aldermen, Councilmen and Ward Officers, to be voted for at the next Municipal Election, and to transact any other business that may properly come before said meetings.

Per order Republican City Committee.

HERMON BARTLETT, Chairman.

February 28th, 1874.

THE SENATE DRIVEN BY BUTLER.

The controversy over the Boston Collectorship has passed through a number of exciting phases during the past forty-eight hours, with the astonishing result that a majority of the United States Senate, in defiance of public opinion and contrary to its own usage, have sustained Gen. Butler in riding roughshod over the best portion of the Republicans of Massachusetts, a majority of the State delegation and both of the Senators of the Commonwealth. The facts may be briefly stated as follows: On Thursday afternoon the Butlerites were thunderstruck by the action of Senator Boutwell in reporting in the Executive Session against the confirmation of Simmons. That Senator was unable to withstand the overwhelming expression of public opinion in his State, and urged that the nomination ought not to be confirmed. His course was supported by Messrs. Sumner, Pomeroy, Frelinghuysen, and others, Senator Wadleigh of New Hampshire, energetically protesting against confirmation. A vote resulted fifteen in favor to twenty opposed, and although Conkling secured a postponement by urging the lack of a quorum the defeat of Simmons was regarded as sure.

The Butler camp was instantly in an uproar, and the Essex chief, foaming with wrath again at Boutwell, bent all his energies upon the work of drumming up his Senatorial supporters for the final contest on Friday. All the earlier despatches on that day indicated Simmons's defeat as a foregone conclusion, and the later announcement that the confirmation had been driven through the Senate by a vote of twenty-seven to seventeen, in spite of the adverse report of the Committee and the opposition of both Massachusetts Senators, was a startling disappointment.

As the Executive Sessions are supposed to be secret, we have only the telegraphic intimations that Messrs. Conkling and Carpenter rendered themselves conspicuous as the champions of Butler's wishes, and that the Democrats governed their votes solely by a desire to injure the Republican party. The public will view this extraordinary proceeding with alarm, as evincing that the malign influence of Butler is even more powerful than has heretofore been suspected. The President and Butler himself had both admitted that in view of the intense opposition the appointment was a mistake, the committee having the question in charge reported that the nomination ought not to be confirmed, both the Senators of the State urged its rejection; and yet, Butler's influence in the Senate proved strong enough to override every consideration but that of his sovereign will! The annals of the Senate can hardly present a parallel to this outrageous proceeding, and the Republican members who have thus called in the aid of the opposition to strike a foul blow at the Republican party in the interest of an unscrupulous demagogue, will not be able to bury this business in the obscurity of a secret session. The public will await additional news from Washington with much interest.

THE WEST NOT FOR INFLATION

The Milwaukee Journal of Commerce has a good deal of error and a good deal of truth in the currency controversy. The issue between the sound currency policy and the indefinite inflation policy is not in any sense sectional. The currency question is hardly more a sectional question than it is a party question. As each party is at present divided between radical thinkers, superficial thinkers, and those who talk on the subject of finance without thinking at all, so each section of the country divided. The grounds for the impression which has reached Washington, that the West demands "cheap money" and an "elastic currency," and anything else that the panacea of inflation may be called, are rather apparent than real. The gentlemen who represent the West in Congress will find out their mistake, if, proceeding up on the assumption, they abandon all efforts at correct independent thinking and try to solve the financial problem by the counting of their constituents' noses or the comparison of different areas of territory. Of all the imperfect attempts at the solution of the currency question this geographical solution, which seems just now to be the favorite, is probably the most imperfect and, consequently unsatisfactory.

It is true that the West, in so far as it is a debt-paying section, appreciates the advantage to be gained from cancelling an obligation with the value of the nominal dollar indefinitely reduced. But the West is by no means exclusively a debt paying section. It is becoming less so every year, as every year it produces the crops that feed the world. The West is constantly importing new industries and establishing and extending vast manufactures and solid businesses. In so far as the West has anything of money's worth to sell, or any sound manufacturing interests to protect, it is concerned to get back to a gold basis for the currency, which is the only stable basis, as soon as possible.

So at the East, it is the sound, conservative business man who demands uniformity for the measure of value, while it is the reckless speculator who hopes to thrive by the fluctuations of an inflated paper currency. The advocates of inflation are Vanderbilt and Tom Scott and Jay Gould and Jay Cooke—not A. T. Stewart, or Wm. E. Dodge, or A. A. Low, or S. B. Chittenden or H. B. Claflin. A currency the volume of which may be changed by any finance tinker that may chance to become Secretary of the Treasury, makes every farmer who sows wheat in the spring to sell in the fall, as well as every merchant who imports goods to job to his trade, an involuntary speculator.

The sagacious and conservative business man, whether in the East or the West, sees the trouble and harm of having to add an element of continual variation to the ordinary calculations of his trade. The New York merchant comprehends the absurdity of a yard stick measure 2½ feet to-day and 3½ feet to-morrow, and the Wisconsin farmer finds equal absurdity and inconvenience in a corresponding variation in the size of his bushel.

The clamor for inflation, if it can be fairly given geographical character, ought rather to be located in Wall street than in the West. The inflation party, however, consists of the delinquent western debtor and the unsubstantial eastern speculator. As the worst wheel in the wagon makes the most noise, so this school of financiers has of late nearly monopolized attention in the halls of legislation and in the columns of the press. The believers in a currency that shall efficiently and equitably perform the services of commerce, and at the same time honorably represent the good faith of the nation, are a large and powerful, although a quiet class. This class includes the soundest-thinking farmers traders, manufacturers and bankers, in both the West and the East, and it will not readily permit the nation to drift towards the sure disaster of inflation.

A Washington special says the Maine delegation, with other New England Congressmen, have agreed to recommend the appointment of Frederick J. Sewall, of Bath, for Supervisor of Internal Revenue to succeed Simmons.

We desire to call the particular attention of our readers to the startling facts presented in the article on mortality in the metropolis, printed on our first page to-day. The relative mortality among children of American and foreign parents is presented in figures which will astonish a great many people, and it is evident that these statistics cannot be too widely published and seriously considered.

There will be a good deal of satisfaction at the report that Castelar is about to rejoin the Spanish Ministry, though there is some danger of his putting too much confidence in Serrano's assurances of his support of the Republic.

The Boston newspaper pleasantry about Nilsson's noxious partridge supper in Providence having assumed a serious monetary phase, the actual loss being set down at over ten thousand dollars, the Providence Journal thinks it is time to say that the distinguished prima donna, who orders always her own bill of fare, partook of no partridge or other kind of game at the City Hotel in that city, but rather supped on such plain and nourishing fare as seemed to her most befitting and agreeable.

Rev. Edward Stuart, Vicar of a London church, publishes a card in the Times inviting a layman, Mr. Kinnaird, to preach in his church on any Sunday he chooses, promising to show him into the pulpit himself, and to defray half the expense of any legal action ensuing. He does this with the consent of his church wardens.

Mr. Ruskin says he would like to destroy New York beyond the chance of rebuilding, and he thinks all the salt went out of the nation with the decay of Southern chivalry. Mr. Ruskin is evidently going to ruin very fast.

A meeting of the East Side Association of New York Thursday evening adopted resolutions urging Senators and Representatives in Congress to secure the appropriation of at least $700,000 to complete the work at Hell Gate.

The Boston Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, having been refused recognition by the National Grange, last evening voted to set up for itself, with true Boston spirit, and run its own agricultural machine upon its own basis.

The Augusta correspondent of the Ellsworth American makes the following pleasant reference to Bangor members;

On the other side of the chamber is Palmer of Penobscot, an excellent man of business liberal in spirit, genial in heart, and with lots of "horse sense."

Morse of Bangor is the muscular Christian. He is also alderman of his city, in which office he uses his muscular reputation to advantage.

From Penobscot County is Frank Wilson of Bangor, sitting nearly in front of the Speaker. Wilson has to an eminent degree what Mathew Arnold calls a "talent for affairs." He can do things with a very level head and excellent powers of argument, he possesses a warm heart and an infinite fund of humor, that is continually bubbling and sparkling.

The New York Evening Post, takes this view of the Boston Collectorship controversy

"The main question does not concern the fitness of Supervisor Simmons for any particular office. That from his habits and his association in politics he is not fit for the place in point is as clear as the day. But if he were a suitable man, the fact still remains that his appointment is as a reward of service to Butler, while, according to the Republican theory of civil service, the Deputy Collector of the port should be promoted to the vacant Collectorship. In this case the Deputy is spoken of as able and worthy to fill the place. He is familiar with all its duties, while the other is not, he is a practical business man, while the chief qualification of the other is "political activity." The faith of the Republican party, pledged to the people time after time, is involved in the issue, and all that the Republicans of Massachusetts demand is an honest performance according to its promise."

THE CRUSADE IN MICHIGAN. A despatch from Sturgis, Michigan, says: "The temperance movement here is triumphant. The ladies of the town, under the skillful leadership of Mrs. W. Pendleton, had succeeded Wednesday in closing every saloon and drinking establishment. The saloon-keepers have signed a contract to hereafter abstain from the business so long as they remain residents of the place. The druggists have also given bonds to sell only in accordance with the law. It is regarded as a great success in the temperance cause; all law-abiding and order-loving citizens are jubilant."

DEATH OF A PROMINENT MANUFACTURER. The death of Hon. Richard Borden, which occurred in Fall River, Mass., on Wednesday, that city, to whose material prosperity, he devoted the best energies of a long and active life, loses one of its wealthiest, most public-spirited and most influential of her citizens. To Col. Borden, more than to any other man, Fall River is indebted for the proud position which she also holds as the largest cotton manufacturing city in the world. He was emphatically a self-educated man, possessing large and comprehensive ideas and sound judgment, which stamped with success the varied and important enterprises which he inaugurated. He was the founder of the Fall River Iron Works, which, from small beginnings, has risen to the control of a large portion of the wealth of the city. He took an active part in every enterprise calculated to promote the prosperity of Fall River, and so devoted was he to the welfare and advancement of the place that he was justly entitled to the appellation "Father of the City." He was instrumental in the construction of the extension of the railroad from South Braintree to Fall River, and was the leading spirit of the Bay State Steamboat Company. For many years, and at the time of his death, he held the position of Director of the Old Colony Railroad, and was President of the Cape Cod Railroad up to the date of its consolidation with the Old Colony.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Troy Times calls the Senate vote in favor of more national bank notes "another financial drunk."

The City Council of Selma, Alabama, is about to issue $25,000 worth of shinplasters in denominations ranging from ten cents to ten dollars.

The Maryland Legislature has passed a law providing against the employment of children under sixteen years old more than ten hours a day in factories.

The Ohio Legislature, being Democratic, was expected to repeal the Adair Liquor law, but public opinion has been so excited by the woman's movement that it will hardly presume to do so.

A Washington special says that Senator Schurz's speech has destroyed all desire on the part of the inflationists to vote on any of the proposed amendments for a few days at least, so that the country may expect to remain in suspense a while longer before any real indication of the Senate's financial policy will be given.

The New York State Assessors make the startling statement, that in every section of the State "the universal statement and evidence is that the farm lands have depreciated in value from ten to thirty per cent. in the last six years." They add, that "in many of the best agricultural counties the number of farms is constantly decreasing, and the population is not so large now as that of twenty years ago."

FORTY THIRD CONGRESS

First Session.

SENATE

WASHINGTON Feb 27

Mr Buckingham moved to amend the bill to remit duties on imported goods so as to correct the error in the bill which was passed

Mr Hamlin said the original clerk of the Committee on Commerce had certified to the correctness of the bill as it was passed

Mr Morrill moved to print extra copies of the Coast Survey report

Mr Sherman said a dispatch had been sent to the Press Association stating that he and Mr Chandler were in the Senate Chamber intoxicated but him to bed on a sofa in the Finance Committee's room and that Mr Chandler awoke he grossly insulted the clerk of the committee did not know a word of truth

The bill making available certain unexpended balances to construct a branch mint at San Francisco was passed.

Bayard from the Finance Committee reported a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish the Senate with information required to prevent defalcation in receiving and disposing of revenue and public money and whether personal responsibility of such stamps and the amount of money actually received

Passed

A bill to provide for the appointment of a commission in regard to the boundary line between Maine and the British Provinces was taken up and the amendment of the House of Maine appropriating $10 000 for the expenses of the commission agreed to

Senator Hamlin opposed the bill on the ground that it would be another spring wedge for increasing the patronage and power of Senators

Mr Berry Conkling with the Senator from Oregon thought it would be a bad precedent

The morning hour expired and the House bill in regard to the Centennial Exhibition was taken up

Mr Sumner offered a substitute for the House bill providing that the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of American Independence shall be national in its character that the arrangements shall be left in the hands of the original committee that all be carried out to conform to the provisions of no act of Congress and that no money all be appropriated from the national treasury on account of the celebration

The debate on the subject was continued but no action was taken

After executive session that Monday next after the pending bill was disposed of he would ask a vote be taken up for reference his bill in regard to the new election in Louisiana, and will ask the indulgence of the Senate while he submits some remarks

Mr Westmoreland as a member of the Appropriation Committee, having charge of the Indian appropriation bill, he would ask to have that considered as soon as the pending bill should be disposed of to the exclusion of everything

The Senate on motion of Mr Cameron went into Executive Session after which it adjourned till Monday

HOUSE.

Mr Tyner of Ind moved to reconsider the vote of yesterday by which the bill reviving the franking privilege was rejected He said he would call it up when the members were more generally in the seats, and that his object was to recommit the bill to the Committee on Ways and Means with instructions to report back the third section only which relates to free circulation of weekly newspapers between publishers

The House then proceeded to the consideration of private bills

Bills were reported from the Pensions Committee and passed granting pensions of $30 a month to the widows of Gens Meade and Canby and the mother of Gen McPherson The pension of the widow of Commodore Elliott was increased from $30 to $50 per month

Mr Tyner stated that he had concluded to withdraw that on Monday he will introduce a bill and move to pass it under suspension of the rules for free circulation of weekly newspapers

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on private calendar

The Committee rose at 4 o'clock and reported bills which thereupon were passed by the House

Mr Shanks of Ind, entered a motion to reconsider the vote of yesterday rejecting the bill to revive the franking privilege to be called up hereafter

The House at 4 30 adjourned until to morrow

KANSAS

MCNUTT DENIES THE MURDER OF SAVIERS

St Louis Feb 27 A despatch from Wichita Kansas says 'McNutt under arrest for the murder and burning of Saviers was taken to Topeka to-day McNutt declares that he made no confession to anyone, and the statements recently published are not his. The officer who had McNutt in charge also states that the purported confession is a fabrication

DELAWARE

THE WARDEN IMPLICATED IN THE JAIL BREAKING

NEW YORK, Feb 27 A Wilmington, Del, special states that the Warden of Newcastle jail was undoubtedly in the plot to release the prisoners on Tuesday night, and the outside party of confederates was very small. A carriage was found on the road to Philadelphia broken down and the horses nearly dead from over-driving. It is understood that the Warden has resigned He was recently suspended by the Sheriff for allowing the escape of two other prisoners.

MICHIGAN

SENATOR CHANDLER SUES THE FREE PRESS FOR LIBEL.

DETROIT, Feb. 27. Senator Chandler has brought a suit against the Detroit Free Press for libel, claiming $100 000 damages The alleged libel is a special despatch from Washington on Feb. 20, charging him with intoxication and disgraceful conduct in the Senate chamber

The Boston Collectorship!

Boutwell Reports Adversely!

First Vote Against Simmons!

Simmons Confirmed!

THE CONTEST IN THE SENATE!

The Democrats Aid Butler!

THE EXCITEMENT INCREASED!

A TURN IN THE TIDE

NEW YORK, Feb 27 A Washington despatch to the Times says it seems to be settled that Simmons will be finally rejected as a candidate for Collector of Boston Both Senators from Massachusetts are understood to have taken strong grounds against the confirmation

CONKLING OVERBORNE

The Herald's despatch states that Conkling took up the cause of Simmons and labored hard for him Sumner could take no active part in the debate owing to medical advice When Conkling found Simmons had been rejected he made the point that the record did not show a quorum and thus the permanent defeat of Simmons is deferred till a day

BOUTWELL'S ADVERSE REPORT

The World's despatch says that Boutwell's adverse report on Simmons surprised everybody Cameron led the Butler forces The strongest speech against Simmons is said to have been made by Wadleigh of New Hampshire, who warned the Senate that Simmons confirmation would have the most unfortunate effect upon the coming election in his State

THE EXECUTIVE SESSION—BUTLER DEFEATED

The Tribune's despatch says there were three administration senators present who declined voting If they had voted Simmons would have been finally rejected It is generally considered that the affair is virtually settled so far as Simmons is concerned The despatch says that the new nation was only taken up by Butler's urging and if it had been delayed the President doubtless would have withdrawn it and sent in another name

BUTLER HAS AN INTERVIEW WITH THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON Feb 27 Gen Butler this afternoon had an interview with the President on the subject of the Boston Collectorship, when he left the Executive Mansion and soon returned with Secretary Richardson Senator Boutwell Representatives Hooper and Burchard the two last being among the Representatives from Massachusetts who like Butler and Dawes did not sign the recommendation to confirm Simmons and have no choice to make between the President of Morton and Fisk as a suitable person for Collector as a compromise in place of Simmons

SIMMONS NOMINATION NOT TO BE WITHDRAWN

So far as the result of the interview can be ascertained it is the opinion of one who was present that Simmons will not be withdrawn and in the event of his rejection by the Senate the President will not nominate any one of the three persons named by the seven Massachusetts Representatives

TOO LATE FOR HARMONY

NEW YORK Feb 27 [A Washington special states that the President tried to have Butler and other members of the Massachusetts delegation amicably arrange the affair by absent the Collectorship of Boston, but Butler refused saying it was too late now to talk of harmony

BOUTWELL AND SUMNER VOTED DOWN—SIMMONS CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON Feb 27. The Senate were in Executive Session this afternoon the nomination of William A Simmons to be Collector of Customs at Boston Senators Boutwell and Sumner again severally spoke in opposition to the nominee regarding him as a mere politician not fitted by education for the high and responsible position and who was not acceptable to the larger number of intelligent merchants of Boston

BUTLER'S WHIPPERS IN

Senators Conkling and Carpenter advocated the nomination, speaking in praise of the gentleman and of his business capacity, and were audible to see in the remarks presented any proper reason for rejection

THE VOTE

Finally a vote was taken and the Senate confirmed the nomination by a vote of 27 to 17 the Democrats present voting in the affirmative

BUTLERITES JUBILANT

The result was almost immediately known to a dozen or more friends of Simmons who were standing at the main door, when they gave expression to their joy in loud cheers They caught the cars and Butler to exchange congratulations

THE PROCEEDINGS SINGULAR

It is regarded as singular that a nomination should be confirmed by a dominant party when as in this case the nominee was opposed by both Senators of the State

INDIGNATION IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb 27. The report of Simmons' confirmation came as a complete surprise and causes great indignation The Journal and Advertiser will publish editorials severely denouncing the confirmation as unprecedented and declaring that Massachusetts will not submit to be handed over to Butler's control

The police will investigate the charges.

WASHINGTON.

TREASURY GOLD

NEW YORK Feb 27 A Washington despatch says that Secretary Richardson authorizes the statement that the resumption of the sales of gold has neither been considered nor determined upon, and unless there is a revival of the import trade it is hardly probable the present policy will be changed He also says that whenever the sale of gold shall be resumed the programme will be announced as formerly, and not be intimated in any other manner

MRS GAINES PREFERS SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE DURRELL.

Mrs. Gaines testified before the sub committee of the House Judiciary Committe yesterday (according to a Washington special) that Judge Durrell authorized her lawyer, Mr Stone to make propositions to her that upon payment of $20 000 and giving him (Durrell) every other lot of land in two squares of the land in New Orleans he (Durrell) would sit in her case This she declined to accede to Subsequently she met Durrell at the residence of Norton, and upon asking him why he could not sit on her case, he referred her to Norton Shortly after she met Norton, who repeated the above proposition made by Stone and she again refused

The Convention requested the Constitutional Convention to incorporate a prohibitory clause in the State Constitution

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS' CONVENTION

CLEVELAND Feb 27 The convention of locomotive engineers is still in session It is rumored that a general strike is contemplated upon and the details are being arranged It is also stated that the strike is conditional upon the grievances and demands of the strikers do not carry their point they will split from the brotherhood and form a separate organization

THE TEMPERANCE CRUSADE

AFFAIRS IN DAYTON,

DAYTON, OHIO Feb 27 The women continue prayer meetings The advisory committee have taken legal advice and it is rumored they have stopped street prayers in consequence of the stringent ordinance against obstructing the streets which subjects them to a fine on complaint of any aggrieved party

EXPERIMENTING

Several committees of two each have visited some saloons and druggists with pledges Only one druggist and one of the saloon men signed The ladies may yet conclude to test the ordinance The saloon keepers have agreed upon a plan of mutual self protection

GREAT SUCCESS AT XENIA

At a large temperance meeting at Dayton yesterday the following despatch from Xenia was received —

"Three more surrenders liquor poured out on the streets ladies on the street in full force great success attends their efforts come!"

The audience thereupon rose and, led by Dr Dio Lewis, sang, with great enthusiasm the chorus of the Battle Hymn of the Republic "Glory glory Hallelujah our God is marching on!"

NO MOVEMENT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO Feb 27 There are no new developments in the temperance movement except that the notices received by saloon keepers of the intended visit of prayer crusaders proved bogus, no praying band made an appearance yesterday

INTEREST IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Feb 27 More earnestness was displayed yesterday among the temperance advocates in this city than has previously appeared The numerous temperance lodges and church societies, both Protestant and Catholic, are receiving new vigor Yesterday 2 000 temperance tracts were ordered by the Massachusetts Temperance Alliance alone. Over a hundred liquor dealers have written letters expressing their willingness to discontinue the liquor business.

LECTURE The lecture by Prof C H Fernald of the State Coll ge delivered last evening in the First Methodist church deserved to have been heard by a much larger audience than was present, and we regret that the church was not crowded for a more interesting and able same time instructive address on the subject we have rarely heard The lecturer's topic was "The Ancient Life of the Globe," and he proceeded in a clear and comprehensive manner to treat in consecutive order of the various forms, reptiles animals and birds which have existed on the earth in past ages and are now known to us only by their fossil remains in the rocks of the different periods The lecture was illustrated by diagrams and cartoons of many of the reptiles animals etc, as restored by eminent naturalists and it was not in the least 'dry or dull' as scientific lectures are too apt to be We hope of to hear Prof Fernald here again on this or some kindred topic

AROOSTOOK COUNTY S J COURT

FEBRUARY TERM—JUDGE PETERS PRESIDING

Thursday, Feb 26th Llewellyn Powers vs Theodore Cary, libel

The plff charges that the defendant editor of the Aroostook Times, on March 12, 1873 printed and published a libellous affidavit of a colored family of Mr Page The affidavit is dated March 12, 1873 and signed Annie G Cornelison, sworn to before a Justice of the Peace and substantially charges, that on the first Saturday of the same March, between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, as the affiant, whose character is fully vouched for by Mrs Page, passed his office, he, the plff, came out and walked with her all the way home, and made to her improper and insulting proposals which she scorned, and that he had spoken to her in a similar manner many times before. Also that the defendant on the 29th day of January, 1873, printed and published a libellous article, charging substantially that plff cheated his clients, defrauded pensioners of Government bounties reported business men, who were in good standing, as ordering upon insolvency, and that as Collector of Customs he had robbed the Government in some case, of one fourth of seizures

Defence—We admit the publication and that the words are actionable prima facie, but deny malice and justify and put the truth in evidence.

The plff in his opening states that before these publications the relations between himself and the defendant were of the most friendly character; that he had done a large amount of professional business for him, argued his causes before juries, masters in chancery and judges, that his name still stood upon the Jerkes as his attorney; that his fault was in allowing himself to be the instrument of publication, that George and Jefferson Maclaway, his brothers, and Henry, his partner reasons had conceived a certain reasons had conceived a certain resentment against him; that some of them had threatened to drive him from the town in humiliation and disgrace, and in one of the meetings of [illegible] had made use of their influence with this dept, to procure the insertion of these libels upon him.

The deft's counsel availed themselves fully of objections to jurors, procured the summoning in of extra jurors, and challenged off the first two who were drawn.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Powers put in the formal proofs of publications, and notified defendant that he claimed punitory damages Mr. Baker made the opening for deft., and will endeavor to show the truth of the statements, or at any rate, the circumstances in mitigation of damages.

REV THOMAS BINNEY. The Rev Thomas Binney, D. D, LL D, whose death is announced by a cable despatch, was born at Newcastle on Tyne, England, in 1798, was educated at Wymondley College, and became minister of an Independent Chapel at Newport, Isle of Wight. In 1829 he removed to London and assumed the pastorate of the "King's Weigh house Chapel," which he retained until 1871 From the year 1826 he was an indefatigable writer for the press, his published works being devoted mainly to the consideration of religious subjects, and in some instances attracting marked attention In 1843 he paid a visit to the United States and Canada. In 1857 he set out on a tour through the Australian colonies, preaching and lecturing occupying two years in the tour. Mr Binney received his degree of LL D from the University of Aberdeen, and that of D D from the United States

LOVE AMONG THE GRAVES.

BY MARY B. DODGE

Twenty years ago, in gladsome weather,
In this silent city's woodland bounds,
Up and down it went buoyant step-together,
Unconscious wanderers round—
Wandered round and through the winding alleys,
Braved the gloomy avenues of cedar boughs,
Fragrant as the hill's and in the valleys
Odors of the dew.

Little recked we of the mystic meaning
Hidden in each thing that forget me not
Of the tear soon seeded or heavenly gleaming
In the gentian's blue—

Hid it not we of slumber's coming
Darker, lengthening than the night before,
Deeper, colder, than the cold caressing
Of our sister's embrace—

In the pink-rimed dish of answering glances,
In the tender touch of loving hands,
In the joyous pulse that gayly danced
As we drew closer to each other,
In our full absorption could we listen
To low minor tones, and we so glad?
Catching by our eyes the tears to glisten
But they were not sad.

No! the fount of love and flowing treasure
In our hearts—and our hearts' relief!
Was as yet to them a dew-drop, in the measure
Of the vast and deep grief.
When, in years, unveiled to us Heaven's glory—
Here and there a simple myrtle bore
Telling with more pathos the same story
Of some aching loss.

Fair as, upturned city rose before us—
Bright the grasses tinted the buried gloom,
After many years, where we lay to rest us
In the peaceful sliding bloom—
Now the tufted shafts make level shadows
With the grave-lines they cover in disorder;
All the old-world wealth of green meadows
Serve not Death to hinder.

And the city's sound to day as wholely
With its every-day calamities in season,
As the same far hit seems smile as brightly,
Every bit, every one.
But not here, in this, a breath of their cares
Finds its way—no cares its taint of rust,
And for all the flesh is one only seen
Stamped and just.

Now the sun-tinted may-bug holds a shield unbroken
Of the beauty-child—
As thrice it flaunted soldier
Marching—time and shade
Now no more, as once in Stately Wealthier
Days by a stage coach wheels
Compact on the road it kept her
Thereby's wayside streets!

Sale on Execution.

Penobscot ss. March 6th 1874

By virtue of an execution and writ of possession issued from the Court of Common Pleas within and for said County of Penobscot, to me directed, in favor of Benjamin S. Deane against the real estate of Daniel B. Norwood, I have seized and taken all the right, title and interest which the said Daniel B. Norwood had in and to the following described real estate, situated in Bangor, in said County of Penobscot, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at the corner of Hancock and Fifth streets; thence northerly on Fifth street one hundred and twenty-five feet; thence westerly parallel with Hancock street one hundred feet; thence southerly parallel with Fifth street one hundred and twenty-five feet to Hancock street; thence easterly on Hancock street one hundred feet to the place of beginning, and all the right, title and interest which the said Daniel B. Norwood had in and to the same on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1874, at 2 o'clock and 30 minutes P. M., the time when the same was attached on the original writ in favor of said Benjamin S. Deane against said Norwood, and all persons are hereby notified and warned to appear at the office of Joseph E. Nichols, in Bangor, in said County of Penobscot, on the 28th day of March, A. D. 1874, at 10 o'clock A. M., then and there to make choice of an appraiser on their part, and the said Deputy Sheriff will then and there proceed to appraise the said real estate so seized and taken on said execution, as the law directs.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No 78 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, Boston,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years in the effort to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France, and other European countries, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents are made on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity of Patents of Inventions, and other advice rendered in all matters relating the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. A pamphlet containing full directions for obtaining Patents in the United States, sent free on application.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All the easily of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are entirely avoided.

TESTIMONIALS

I have used Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and expeditious gentlemen with whom I have had official intercourse.
ELIJAH MASON,
Commissioner of Patents

I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can confidently place their applications for patents in the hands of Mr. Eddy, as he is a man more competent and trustworthy than the majority of persons who undertake the management of such business for inventors. Having had occasion to employ him on many and important occasions, I can speak from full knowledge of his ability and success in procuring patents.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

Mr. R. H. Eddy, I consider for me over THIRTY applications for Patents having been successful in almost every case. Such success is proof to me that he is a man of more than ordinary ability in his profession, and I therefore take pleasure in recommending all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed in the case and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART,
Stanly

Prospectus for 1874,

Seventh Year.

The Aldine,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores

THE ALDINE will be issued with all the regularity, but none of the irregularity or fitfulness of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, with a varied picturesque and artistic element of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each successive number will offer a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will not be appreciated until the whole of the handsome volume is completed at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with the price of a single issue, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone an unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possession of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost: and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe as well as America, the publication ranks as examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel engravings" is rapidly yielding to a more educated taste, distinguishing taste which prefers individuality of execution, superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and effective finish of the more costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic merits and greatest general interest. From the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, supply to his own home the choicest and most fascinating influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thomas Moran, and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original picture we propose to give is entitled "Group of Colorado Cattle," and is a companion picture to the second "Idyl of the West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire, the other gives the cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates and require forty-five (45) impressions to complete the similtee of the originals. The presentation of a work of this character is a compliment to the good judgment of the subscriber's of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea and its success has realized in a manner fully satisfactory to the publishers, as the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Morgan himself, will show:

NEWARK, N. J., Sept 20th, 1873

MESSRS JAMES SUTTON & CO

Gentlemen—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations of a mechanical process, the origin of its attainment.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS MORAN

These chromos are, in every sense American. They are not an original American production, with material that can be found in the manufacture, from the forest of Maine, to the Yosemite valley in California, and the whole is executed by American artists and workmen. Every subscriber should indicate a preference for a future subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home" in a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, to the first person who claims it, and whose name is received by the publishers on or before the 1st of December, 1873.

Every subscriber should indicate a preference for a future subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home" in a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, to the first person who claims it, and whose name is received by the publishers on or before the 1st of December, 1873.

Specimen copies of the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid by mail,

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtained only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate, cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, with receipt signed by the publishers as vouchers for cash, where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.
